INDICTMENT

The Grand Jury charges that:

(Conspiracy)

Introduction

1. Beginning on a date unknown, but no later than in or about November 2023, and continuing through at least October 10, 2024, in King County, within the Western District of Washington, and elsewhere, and in an offense begun outside the jurisdiction of

1 any particular state or district of the United States, CONNOR RILEY MOUCKA and 2 JOHN ERIN BINNS, and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury, devised and 3 executed international computer hacking and wire fraud schemes to hack into at least 10 4 victim organizations' protected computer networks, steal sensitive information, threaten to 5 leak the stolen data unless the victims paid ransoms, and offer to sell online, and sell, the 6 stolen data. Through this scheme, the co-conspirators gained unlawful access to billions of 7 sensitive customer records, including individuals' non-content call and text history records,
8 banking and other financial information, payroll records, Drug Enforcement Agency
9 ("DEA") registration numbers, driver's license numbers, passport numbers, Social Security 10 numbers, and other personally identifiable information.

11 2. MOUCKA, BINNS, and their co-conspirators profited from these schemes 12 through several means, including by successfully extorting at least 36 bitcoin (worth 13 approximately $2.5 million at the time of payment) from at least three victims, and by 14 posting offers to sell victims' stolen data on cybercriminal forums for millions of dollars.

15 Relevant Individuals and Entities

16 3. At all times relevant to this Indictment:

17 a. CONNOR RILEY MOUCKA, also known as "Alexander Antonin 18 Moucka," resided in Canada. MOUCKA used online accounts associated with 19 particular nicknames known to the Grand Jury, including but not limited to

26 upload and store data within cloud computing "instances," or online storage 27 environments, which were intended to be accessible only by users authorized by the

1 customer organizations (hereinafter, “Cloud Computing Instances”). Each user of a 2 Cloud Computing Instance had discrete permissions to access his or her own user
3 account, and, through that account, particular portions of the Cloud Computing
4 Instance. The Cloud Computing Instances were hosted on computer servers 5 controlled by Victim-1, and were located throughout the world, including in 6 Virginia, Oregon, and the Netherlands.

8 United States. Victim-2’s Cloud Computing Instance was hosted at computer servers
9 located in Virginia.

11 Cloud Computing Instance was hosted at computer servers located in Oregon.

12 f. Victim-4 was a major entertainment company located in the United

21 The Conspiracy

22 4. Beginning on a date unknown, but no later than in or about November 2023
23 and continuing through at least October 10, 2024, CONNOR RILEY MOUCKA, JOHN 24 ERIN BINNS, and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury, in King County, within 25 the Western District of Washington, and elsewhere, and in an offense begun outside the 26 jurisdiction of any particular state or district of the United States, did knowingly and 27 willfully combine, conspire, confederate, and agree to commit:

- a. Computer fraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1030(a)(2)(C) and 1030(c)(2)(B)(i)–(iii), and 1030(a)(7)(B) and 1030(c)(3)(A);
- b. Wire fraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1343; and
- c. Aggravated identity theft, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1028A.

Goal of the Conspiracy

5. It was the goal of the conspiracy for MOUCKA, BINNS, and others to enrich themselves by: (a) accessing computers without authorization; (b) stealing sensitive personal identifying, financial, and other valuable information from those computers; (c) threatening to leak the stolen data unless the victims paid ransoms; and (d) offering to sell the stolen data online to other criminals.

Manner and Means of the Conspiracy

6. It was part of the conspiracy that:

a. The co-conspirators, including MOUCKA and BINNS, stole or otherwise obtained stolen access credentials that could be used to access the Cloud Computing Instances of victim organizations and their users.

b. The co-conspirators, including MOUCKA and BINNS, used these access credentials to unlawfully access victims' Cloud Computing Instances and to view and download terabytes of private data from within the Cloud Computing Instances, including business information, as well as individuals' non-content call and text history records, banking and other financial information, payroll records, DEA registration numbers, driver's license numbers, passport numbers, Social Security numbers, and other personally identifiable information. MOUCKA, BINNS, and their co-conspirators accessed and obtained data from at least 10 different organizations' Cloud Computing Instances using stolen access credentials.

c. The co-conspirators, including MOUCKA and BINNS, used software

1 they dubbed “Rapeflake” to identify valuable information residing within the 2 victims’ Cloud Computing Instances, including organization names, user roles, and 3 Internet Protocol (“IP”) addresses, among other information.

4 d. The co-conspirators, including MOUCKA and BINNS, through 5 intermediaries, extorted victims by threatening to sell or otherwise distribute their 6 stolen data unless the victims paid ransoms, which at least three victims paid. In at 7 least one instance, the co-conspirators attempted to re-extort one of these victims 8 with threats of further disclosure of the victim’s stolen data.

9 e. The co-conspirators, including MOUCKA and BINNS, used a range 10 of communication methods in furtherance of their crimes, and changed these 11 accounts frequently, all to protect their anonymity. Many of these services were 12 located abroad, and some offered enhanced privacy protections, such as not 13 collecting or validating customer information, offering limited logging of user IP 14 addresses, and protecting the contents of messages with encryption. Other 15 communication platforms catered specifically to cybercriminals, including the 16 online cybercrime forums BreachForums, Exploit.in, and XSS.is, as well as 17 Telegram channels dedicated to online frauds and other cybercrimes.

18 f. The co-conspirators, including MOUCKA and BINNS, also 19 advertised stolen data for sale online, including on BreachForums, Exploit.in, and 20 XSS.is. These advertisements offered to sell the data in exchange for fiat currency 21 and cryptocurrency. The forums on which these postings were made could be 22 accessed from computers located anywhere in the world, including in the Western 23 District of Washington, and these posts were used to facilitate the extortion of the 24 victim organizations, as well as the sale and attempted sale of the victims’ stolen 25 data.

26 g. The co-conspirators, including MOUCKA and BINNS, leased
27 technological infrastructure, including servers, online hosting, and IP addresses,

1 from service providers all over the world. Many of these services were obtained
2 using fraudulent identity information and a variety of payment methods so as to hide 3 the identities of the accountholders.

4 h. The co-conspirators, including MOUCKA and BINNS, demanded 5 payments and made payments for services in cryptocurrency, including bitcoin, and 6 conducted complex cryptocurrency transfers in order to hide the source and 7 destination of their funds. Some of these transfers included transferring bitcoin into 8 monero, an anonymity-enhanced cryptocurrency, to further confound attempts to 9 trace the source and destination of their funds. The co-conspirators, including 10 MOUCKA and BINNS, used virtual asset service providers located all over the 11 world, including in the United States.

12 Overt Acts

13 7. In furtherance of the conspiracy, and in order to effect the purpose and objects
14 thereof, the co-conspirators, including MOUCKA and BINNS, committed various overt 15 acts in King County, within the Western District of Washington, and elsewhere, including,

3 records, including dialed numbers, pertaining to Victim-2's customers from its 4 Cloud Computing Instance.

5 e. On or about May 17, 2024, MOUCKA and BINNS caused a ransom

7 exchange for deletion of Victim-2's stolen data.

8 f. On or about May 17, 2024, MOUCKA and BINNS caused hyperlinks

17 monero.

18 i. On or about May 23, 2024, May 25, 2024, and July 1, 2024, a co-
19 conspirator used portions of Victim-2's ransom payment to pay for overseas 20 technical infrastructure used to further the co-conspirators' crimes.

6 May 24, 2024, MOUCKA and BINNS exfiltrated customer records, including the

13           o.       On or about June 27, 2024, Co-Conspirator-1 posted on a 14 cybercriminal forum a link to download a copy of Victim-3's stolen data, which was 15 made accessible to computers anywhere in the world, including within the Western 16 District of Washington.

17           p.       On or about June 28, 2024, the co-conspirators transferred or caused 18 to be transferred over 10 gigabytes of Victim-3's stolen data—to include names,
19 email addresses, residential addresses, dates of birth, and gift card numbers 20 belonging to millions of Victim-3's customers—to a computer located in the 21 Western District of Washington.

 18 realleged and incorporated as if fully set forth herein.

19 Scheme and Artifice to Defraud
